MURR

RYSVILLE

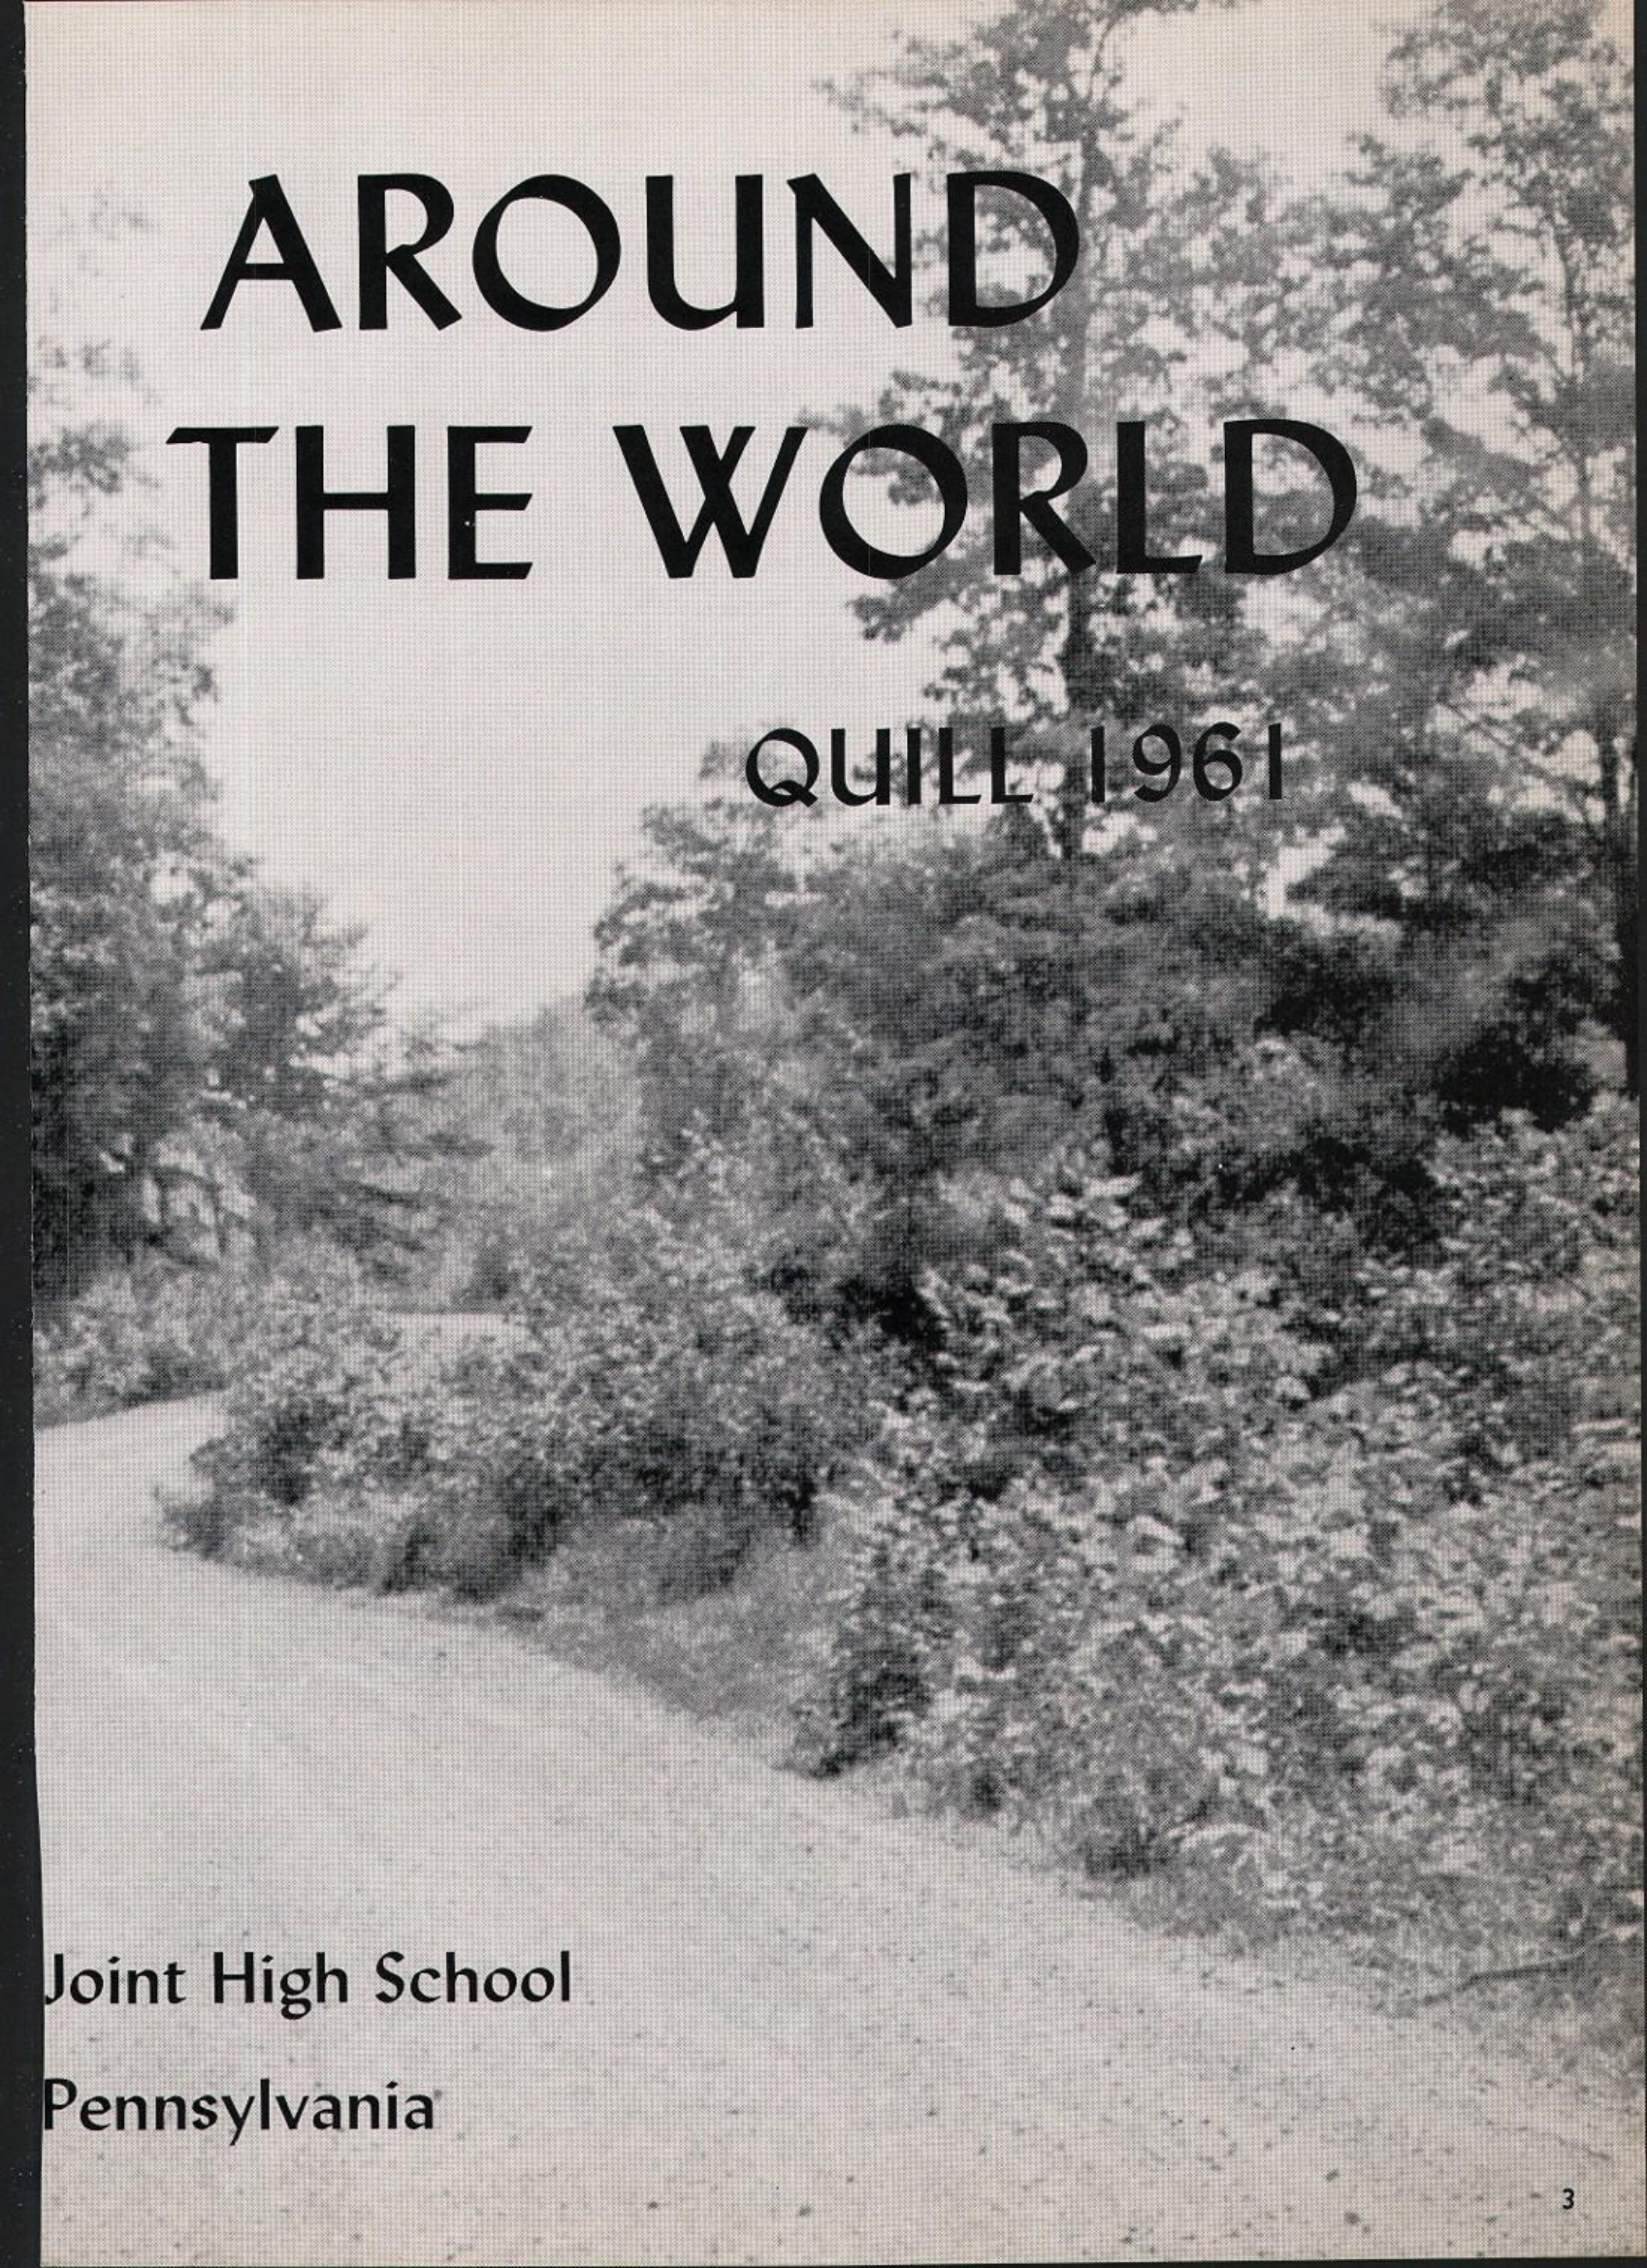

As we board our plane that is to carry us beyond our small world of Murrysville, the places we are to visit flash through our minds. We are at the outset of what will be a wealth of fascinating experiences. New faces and cultures in many strange and exotic lands await us, and you, as we take you . . .

Richard E. Flickinger

For his continual work in improving the Franklin Round-up and for his invaluable assistance and encouragement throughout our school years, we, the graduating class of 1961, are honored to dedicate this yearbook to our teacher and sponsor, Mr. Richard E. Flickinger.

The Parliament, made up of the House of Lords and the House of Commons, is the highest lawmaking body in the United Kingdom. This form of government, tried and tested over the centuries, has served as a pattern for lawmaking assemblies all over the world.

The seven members of the Franklin Township School Board and the five members of the Salem Boro School Board make up the Franklin Area Joint School Board. This board manages the affairs of the school district, such as levying taxes, hiring employees, and contracting services and supplies.

The Joint Board acts as a body on all major policy decisions. A quorum of the Board is needed for all official action. Their meetings are open to the public.

This year the School Board saw the completion of the new wing of the High School and the F. M. Sloan Elementary School.

The Arc de Triomphe de l'Étoile stands at the head of the long, tree-lined Champs Elysees in the center of the Paris star. Here the great arch, a symbol of triumph and victory, guards the tomb of the unknown soldier, for whom there burns an eternal flame.

LAURELS OF OUR VICTORIES

During the years that our class has been at Franklin High, this year's seniors have helped to win many of the trophies in our Trophy Case. We are proud of these achievements and hope that everyone is as proud as we are.

High on the Acropolis of Athens stands the ancient Greek Parthenon, once a great center of activity. Although the temple was partially destroyed, work has begun on raising and setting its fallen columns in order to restore it to its former position of importance in Athenian life.

TERRI CHEGWIDDEN

Fellow Students,

"When the creator made Finland, He relaxed," wrote Hudson Strode. "He took water and earth and trees and spread them about casually . . . in wooded hills and rocky fells, rivers, marshes, archipelagoes, and still blue lakes dotted with verdant islands."

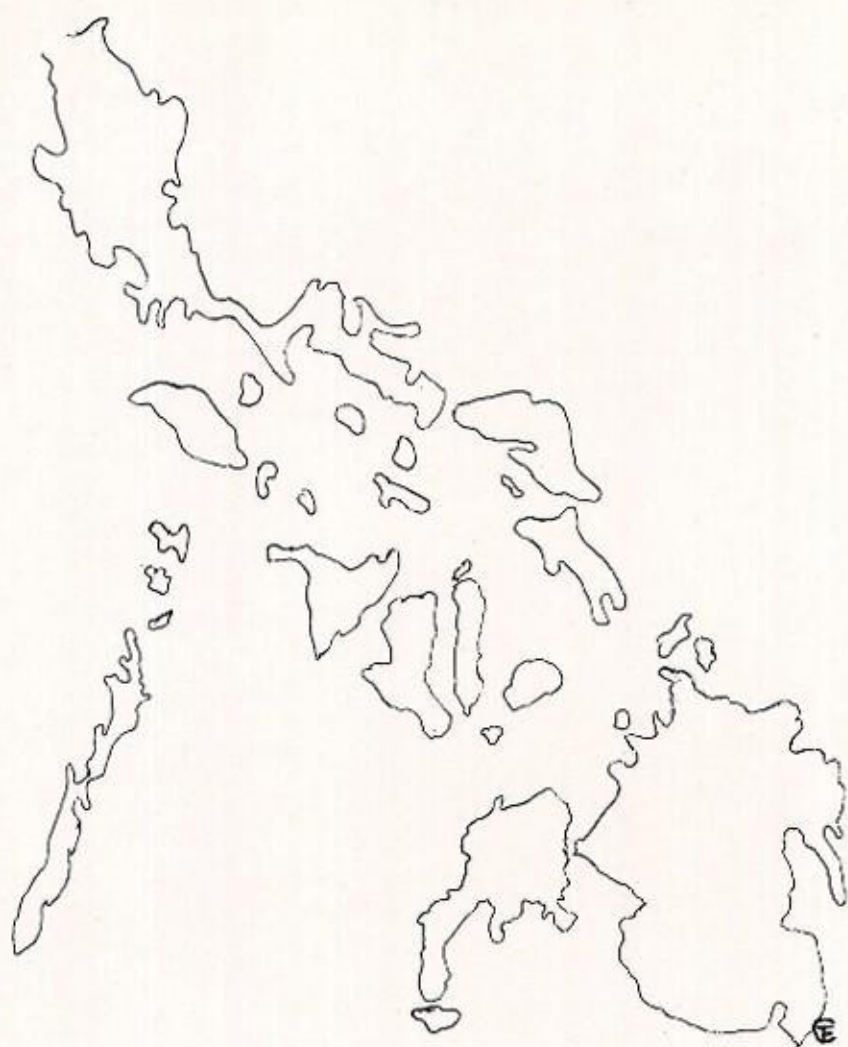

I saw the result of this last summer, and I saw also the effect this had on the Finnish people. A people, who having lived in this casual beauty for so long, have become a natural, friendly, beauty-loving race, willing to fight at any cost for their most precious possession—freedom.

Living as one of the family I stayed with, I was able to share with them ideas, fun, and their love of life. I was also able to watch the basic unit of Finnish society—the family—operate.

As a result of having been so near the Finns in their familiar surroundings, I see now that the only way that understanding between nations shall come about, is through the wiping out of ignorance as to other's ideas, cultures, and idiosyncrasies. When, and only when, this understanding comes about can the heads of state then fruitfully discuss a world at peace—at peace through understanding.

I thank all of you for making my realization of this fact possible, and I am most appreciative for the opportunity to disclose my findings.

Gratefully,
Terri Chegwidden

ALELI ROSALES

To the Student Body:

This one year in America is my most wonderful dream come true. Since I was a little girl, I have always had my face turned toward America. As I grew older, this desire developed into a goal and an ambition. I wanted to serve my country, gain more experience towards maturity, and see the world.

Today, the world rests on the rim of a glass. Cold war freezes people everywhere. I wanted to ease the cold and bring warmth from my country. I want to display a part of my country—our culture, our ideals, and our capacities. I also wanted to see the real American life. We've been exposed to the American community called "Peyton Place," to American colleges in "College Confidential," and to the rough sailing of American families in "A Summer Place." These were distorted pictures and I wanted to see the truth.

I came from a very sheltered childhood. I have been protected like a crystal ball. I've never known overnight parties, or going home alone after six or seven in the evening. I had to grow up, and taste both ends of life—success and disappointment—if I were to become a well-adjusted, matured woman. America is making me grow up fast.

In America, I was able to recapture the glorious past that I've read so much about—the Pilgrims, Indians, Confederates, etc., and I was able to see the future too—planetariums, science projects, museums. Here nature is at its best. Back home we had just two seasons, the hot and the wet. America has everything—heat, cold, deserts, and new life.

The A. F. S., Franklin Area Joint High School, the Caplans, Browns, Donelsons, and everyone else have been so good and so wonderful to me. It is beyond my capacity for words to express how grateful I am and how my parents feel about this.

When I go back home, I will miss America. It is my second home. I would want to come back, and I will—this time to recapture fond memories of Franklin and Murrysville of 1960-61.

Sincerely,
Aleli Rosales
A. F. S. Philippine

In our travels we have tasted life in every circle of the globe. From England to Japan, we have toured fascinating lands and discovered new and unusual customs. We were delighted by the Champs D'Elysee and enchanted by the "Monestario de Cardena," yet after visiting the far corners of the earth, we found that the pleasures we seek lie closest to home. We leave our plane, tired from our journey, but glad to be back in . . .
